Why?

"My child's behaviour is difficult to manage- he won't listen to me."

As your child grows up they are likely to throw many challenges your way!

Lots of things can impact on your child's ability to get the most out of school and reach their full potential.

As a Parent Support Adviser, I can offer practical advice on parenting and support you with any concerns you may have relating to your child's social, emotional and behavioural development.

Where?

I can meet with you in school or at your home.

"My daughter is going up to Year 7 and she is so anxious she's not sleeping well."

"How can I help my child with his home work?"

How?

I work with primary and secondary schools to help support families by:

- Exploring any challenges you or your child may be having in both home and school.
- Being a link between you and your school.
- Listening to your child to explore issues.
- Co-ordinating a support package for your family.

"I'm really worried about my daughter's schooling this year. She has lost all confidence."

"I would like someone I can talk to about how my situation has changed."
