

Where do we live?

The United Kingdom is made up of four countries (England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales) and it is surrounded by three different seas. The North sea, the Irish sea and the English channel. All four countries have a capital city. Do you know the capital cities of each of the countries?

A map is an image of an area, but it is different to an aerial photograph as it also includes interpretation. Maps have compass directions to show us which way is North, South, East and West. Maps also have keys to help us identify different features and find a variety of places and areas of interest.

There are currently a total of 69 cities in the United Kingdom: 51 in England, 7 in Scotland, 6 in Wales, and five in Northern Ireland. The UK's biggest city is London and then Birmingham is second. Both of these cities are in England in the UK. There are also tens of thousands of towns in the UK, but they are smaller than a city, and larger than a village. Do you live in a town or a city?

Country: An area of land that has its own leader.

City: A very large place where lots of people live and work with many houses, buildings and shops. Each country has its own capital city.

Town: A place where people live and work with many houses, shops. Larger than a village but smaller than a city.

Village: A place where people live, normally in the countryside.

Island: Land that is surrounded by water.

Compass directions: A tool to help us find direction.

Sea: Salty water that covers most of the earth.

Human features: Things across the world made by humans and are man-made.

Physical features: Things across the world that have been created by nature.

Famous People

Social Pyramid

Transport and Travel

Location

Food and Farming

Main Events

Vocabulary

Clues from the Past

Impact on the World